

Derick Young, MD, is a Texas native who practices primary care medicine. He attended medical school and his family medicine residency at the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio. He is board-certified by the American Board of Family Medicine.

For Dr. Young, medicine is his true calling, as he's able to provide high-quality health care in a respectful manner. Dr. Young pursued family medicine because it allowed him the broadest scope of practice. His favorite part about family medicine is building relationships with his patients and colleagues.

Dr. Young's special patient care mission is to deliver high-quality care holistically. He believes in helping patients learn how to manage their health so they can maintain the best quality of life possible.

Dr. Young has been married for more than 30 years and has three adult children. He enjoys hiking, off-roading and traveling. Dr. Young believes in the power of faith when dealing with challenging medical conditions and strives to be an active part of the community in which he practices.